IT'S A MISTAKE

Made By Many Norway Residents.

Many people in a misguided effort to get rid of kidney backache, rely on plasters, liniments and other makeshifts. The right treatment is kidney treatment and a remarkably recommended kidney medicine is Doan's Kidney Pills. Norway is no exception.

The proof is at your very door. The following is an experience typical of the work of Doan's Kidney Pills in Norway.

"Doan's Kidney Pills are the only kidney medicine I use and they always give me relief," says W. O. Needham, retired farmer, of Main St., Norway.

"Several years ago I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills and I began using them.

They got my kidneys working right and when that was done, the uric poison in my system was removed. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Stone's Drug Store and I know that they can be relied on."

Price 50¢, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Needham had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. 48-49.

THANKSGIVING SONG.

With true spirit of thanksgiving,
Let us view the year that's past,
Thankful for the friends yet living,
And the memory of the dead;
Thankful for each worldly blessing,
For our spiritual blessings more;
For the contrite soul's confessing—
Better than earth's golden store.
Thankful for the good in mortal,
Tolerating pain and sin,
While believing such the portal
Whence we shall the better win.
Thankful for a heart that's grateful,
To life's harder lot resigning;
Nursing hope where all seems fateful—
Frising the Eternal Mind.
Thankful that with nations warring,
We are still maintaining peace—
Praying that such conflicts jarring
That—the gloom and thunder past—
O'er men's ruffled sensus will waken
A sublimer calm at last.

Recollections of Early Settlers of Greenwood

By PROF. A. E. YERRILL of Yale University.

Prescott, mentioned above, had his feet less deformed than most of the others. All of his descendants, so far as I know, have normal feet, and some have become prominent men in eastern Massachusetts.

His wife was — Hutchinson. His son Lewis has been mayor of Medford, Massachusetts. He is a contractor and builder at Medford. Frank, son of Lewis, is a Harvard graduate. He is engaged in journalism in Boston; was on the Boston Journal, and is now in business in Medford. Frank H., son of Prescott, is in the grocery business in Medford. He married Abbie M. Bennett, daughter of James G. Bennett, Chester B., son of Frank H., is in business in Boston. He has children. Stanley H., another son, is a graduate of Tufts College, and is an electrician. He is unmarried. Sabra, daughter of Prescott, married and moved to the west, where she died. Bethune, another daughter, married Stone.

J. Flagg Lovering lived early on the old Thomas W. Furlong farm, with his father; later he moved to Albany, having exchanged farms with Furlong, still later he returned to the same Furlong farm. Afterwards he lived in Oxford and Norway village, where he died. Both of his feet were badly clubbed and the ankles were turned in, making walking difficult. Late in life he walked mostly on his ankles. He had several children. His oldest son, Newton, apparently had normal feet. Another son, Alphonso, was badly club-footed, but less so than his father. One of his daughters, Ellen, apparently had normal feet, but an odd gait. She married, first, Wm. Marston and had one child; second, Benj. Tucker daughter, by Marston, married Arthur, son of Benj. Tucker, of Norway. They have children.

Sarah, daughter of David Lovering, married Wm. Wardwell, who lives at one time in Skowhegan, Mass., 1857-60, and later in Oxford, Maine. She had six or more sons and perhaps two daughters. Her sons were David, Samuel W. Dominicus who settled in Aroostook County, Leander, Cyrus W., Streeter W. and Robert, who lived at one time on Young's Hill in Greenwood. She also had daughters.

Her feet were badly deformed and several of her children had more or less abnormal feet, but less so than their mother.

Their eldest son, David, served in the Mexican war as Lieutenant and also in the Civil War, as an officer. Therefore his feet were probably normal or nearly so. His wife was thought to have had leprosy, according to certain newspapers of the time. Samuel W. served in the Civil War and lived to be about 80 years old. Dominicus lived in Greenwood and later in Aroostook County. He married and had children. Cyrus W. was a soldier in the 17th Maine Regiment, in the Civil War. He settled in Oxford. His walk was abnormal. Streeter W. had abnormal feet. He lived in Greenwood, on Young Hill. Leander and Robert, I know little about. Lydia, daughter of David Lovering, and wife of Elijah Cordwell, has been mentioned already. Among her descendants are nine known to have had abnormal feet, to the fifth generation.

The houses of James Packard and Leonard A. Carter, farther south from the Furlong farm on the road are abandoned; those of W. Carter and others, near the Norway line, disappeared many years ago.

Hilly Roads of Greenwood. The old road from the F. Coburn farm down to the Sanborn brook descends a long and rather steep hill, which used to be a fine place for coasting in winter. The hills on the cross-road from the Coburn place toward Greenwood City are even steeper.

Greenwood is noted for its hilly roads. One old settler used to say that "old Greenwood is so hilly that there isn't a place in the town where you can safely leave a cart without triggering the wheels."

I used to hear a funny anecdote related, concerning one of these hills. It was told that a pious old lady, who always believed in "trusting in Providence," on all occasions, was going down one of these steep hills, in a wagon, when the horse became unmanageable and ran away.

She jumped out and broke a leg. When the doctor had finished setting her leg, he asked her why she did not stay in the wagon and trust in Providence. She replied that she did trust in Providence, but she thought best to look out for herself.

Although the road toward Greenwood City, from the Coburn farm, has since been much improved, it is still difficult to ascend, even with large automobiles. It is much easier to go up the old county road to Patch Mountain, and then descend by this road.

The old county road northward, beyond the Coburn farm, was long ago abandoned, and is now grown up to weeds and grass.

Simeon Sanborn; His Old Mills and Tavern. At the foot of the long hill was the bridge across the Sanborn Brook, which has a considerable valley. The stream used to be much larger than it is at present, and was noted for its trout.

One of the earliest settlers in the valley of the Sanborn Brook, on the old road to Bethel, was Simeon Sanborn, from whom the stream takes its name. He built, near the bridge, a sawmill and a gristmill before 1806.

Simeon Sanborn bought his farm from the Trustees of the Phillips Academy, and the farm was surveyed, probably about 1806 to 1808, but there is no record of the precise date. Some of his promissory notes were recorded as dated 1808. There is also a record of his having been paid, in August, 1806, for building mills, $120.00.

Corns Quit, Pains Stop, With "Gets-It"

Quit Plasters, Salves and What-Not.

After using "GETS-IT" once you will never again have occasion for asking, "What can I do to get rid of my corns?" "GETS-IT" is the first sure, certain corn-ender ever known.

Why "Suffer-Yet" With Corns? Use "GETS-IT." They'll Vanish!

If you have tried other things by the score and will now try "GETS-IT," you will realize this glorious fact: You probably are tired sticking on tape that won't stay stuck, plasters that shift themselves right onto your corn, contraptions that make a bundle of your toe and press right down on the corn. Put two drops of "GETS-IT" on that corn in two seconds. The corn is then doomed as sure as night follows day. The corn shrivels. There's no pain, no fuss. If you think this sounds too good to be true, try it tonight on any corn, callus, wart or bunion.

"GETS-IT" is sold by druggists everywhere, 25c a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

THE HUNTING SPIRIT.

Over the hills and mountains, at about this time of year, hovers a sort of mist, visible only to the sons of Nimrod. It is not inert, but strangely beckons. By those who have the eyes to see and the gift of understanding, it is called "the spirit of the hunting."

If you would smile at this fancy, remember the story that is told of Whistler. A tourist stood beside the famous artist in a country of lakes and mountains. One was seeing the same sunset that the other was looking at.

"I didn't see anything in a sunset," complained the tourist.

"But don't you wish you could?" said Whistler.

The spirit of hunting, perhaps, will some day be embodied in marble—the masterpiece of Beethoven.

The zest and exhilaration of the hunt are not to be known vicariously by proxy. They are learned only through experience, but it doesn't take very long. After the first hunting trip there is no cure for the mania that results. Some friend of yours for example. He disappears into the woods with a Remington and a camping kit, and when he came back he was a different man. His beard was shocking. He never acted the same again. Like Barkis, however, he was a willin' victim; and every year when the fever comes and he takes to the hard miles and crooked trails, there is no holding him back. The best thing you can do is to go along with your hunter-friend. You can easily get your doctor to advise it.

A hunter is as old as he feels, and judged by that standard he has the advantage over old Pontus de Leon, who searched long and vainly for the Fountain of Youth; and though the gift of the trails and tramps is physical health and strength one always comes back with a sense that somehow an even, richer legacy has been bestowed.

Pretty Near to Oxford Co.

Over in Aroostook county they have adopted a new scheme to make money. They keep quiet until the laboring man has got his pay for picking potatoes, then kill him and get his money. Pretty soft, eh? We presume this refers to the Summer murder.

Sportsmen say that it has been a very poor season for woodcock this fall, owing to the fact that because of the drought, the earth has been hard and dry, making it troublesome for the birds to obtain worms. So they skipped along for the most part southward on their flight instead of remaining here as usual in the coverts. Last year almost entirely through October rain fell making the woodland moist so there was good shooting of these fine game birds.

Oxford County commissioners for fourth class postmasters have been received from Washington. Stella M. Howard at West Peru; George C. Bray at Hiram; Arthur H. Stowell at Locke's Mills; Clarence E. Cole at Bryant Pond; Chas. E. Pingree at Denmark; Fred H. Bradbury at East Brownfield.

Freeman Wyman of South Woodstock from 704 trees gathered 2,100 barrels of apples. He has sold 800 barrels at a net average of $1.42 per barrel. The balance of his apples he has stored.

The Pine Tree Poultry Herald is soon to be published by E. F. Hanson of Belfast. It will be the official organ of the Maine poultry raiser. Seventy-five cents for this year.

Written for the Advertiser. THANKSGIVING.

Thanksgiving is here, the day of the year, in fancy were home on the farm again with the loved ones we hold so dear. In the old kitchen, cosy and warm. Our father and mother are standing there. The sunshine is on their silver hair. They're a smile and a kiss for all. The Thanksgiving table is already spread. The turkey is lying in state. While mother, as ever, sits up at the head, and father sits at the foot of the table. There's a generous slice of savory pork roast, With turkey and cranberry sauce; A dainty slice of brown buttered toast, And sweet ones, golden-brown; There are apple, mince and pumpkin pies, With a pan of plump chicken all hot, There's a pudding of wondrous size, Filled with plums, in a great brown pot. There are potatoes all mealy and white, And sweet ones, golden-brown; The bread so snowy and light, The best ever made in the town. There are frosted cakes, wonderful to see, With nuts and candied fruit, And all of the goodies to all are free, Ah! who could wish for more? The fire that died out on the hearth So many long years ago, Is kindled again in fancy, and earth. We may sigh for them in vain: But still while the heart shall last Their memories will come again. As we think of these dear old homely ways, Our hearts to overflowing fill; We long may dream of those happy days, And the dear old house on the hill. LYDIA LORD SHEDD.

THE HUNTING SEASON.

Only a deer in a tangled wood, With a bullet hole in its side, Only a pain-racked deer that stood And braved the dearest as best he could. Then fell in the brush and died. Only a timid, frightened deer, That was bleeding as it ran— Chased from his home in the thicket here— To suffer, die, in the woodland drear— The prey of a so-called hero.

Only a deer, kind, gentle, tame, Stretched dead by a human hand. Yet men pray note the noble name! Still impudently rise to claim This is a Christian land.

Weather prophets now report that the early prognostications of a mild open winter are confirmed by the appearance of bald-headed caterpillars. An exchange suggests that this is not only an item of interest to those who dread our long cold New England winters, but it is also cheering news to bald-headed men, who are also quite numerous this season, a class of humanity for whom nature has done so little in the way of protection against the wintry blasts. With zero weather before Thanksgiving, cold weather can be said to be "taking hold well."

THE WHOLE BODY NEEDS PURE BLOOD

The bones, the muscles, and all the organs of the body depend for their strength and tone and healthy action on pure blood.

If the blood is very impure, the bones become diseased; the muscles become enfeebled; the step loses its elasticity, and there is inability to perform the usual amount of labor. The skin loses its clearness, and pimples, blotches and other eruptions appear.

Hood's Sarsaparilla makes pure blood. It is positively unequalled in the treatment of scrofula and other humors, catarrh, rheumatism, dyspepsia, loss of appetite, that tired feeling. Be sure to get Hood's and get it today. All druggists.

HEBRON.

Foot-Ball Eleven.
The Hebron Academy foot ball team for 1914 had on the whole a successful season, and at its close is generally admitted to be the strongest school team in the State, though its defeat by Portland High early in the season technically robs it of a clear claim to the title.

Oct. 3—Hebron 21, Berwick 21 0.
Oct. 10—Hebron 1, Portland High 10.
Oct. 17—Hebron 52, Bates 2nd 0.
Oct. 24—Hebron 72, Westbrook 0.
Oct. 31—Hebron 7, Coburn Classical 3.

Nov. 7—Hebron 81, Kent's Hill 0.
The men who won their letters this fall have chosen Ralph Jordan, '16, of Bangor, captain of the team of 1915. Jordan has been a mainstay of the team, last year playing tackle and this year halfback.

Capt. Madenau of this year's team was injured early in the season and was out of the game for a large part of the season, and upon Jordan fell the most of the burden of the team's offense.

THANKSGIVING.

True it is every day should be Thanksgiving. We find many things in every day life that we should be thankful for. Some realize it, some do not. Yet the last Thursday in November has been set apart for years as a day for general thanksgiving, and it should be observed as such. Many may declare in their sorrows, which may have been resting heavily upon them, that they have nothing to be thankful for, but if one were to stop and look back over the year, he will find many things to be thankful for.

Perhaps the question arises, "What should we be thankful for this year?" Stop and think. There are a countless number of things which we, who live in this beautiful country, where the day originated, should find cause to give thanks and praise for.

As a nation we should give thanks that our land is not in the throes of conflict and wholesale murder of war as are the nations of other continents. If we were to realize the real horrors of that conflict we would be glad to get down on our knees that we live in a land of peace.

As a people we should give thanks that we live in a land of freedom. We should offer our thanks because we have been favored by the hand of nature with abundant crops to feed our millions of people. And again as a people we should also give thanks that the face of the earth realize that faith, hope and charity are the three greatest virtues and that we well know that of the three, charity is the greatest.

Cost of Maine Raised Potatoes.

GREENWOOD.

A Search for a Supposed Lost Boy.
Friday morning Willie Morgan, son of E. H. Morgan, started hunting and was not to remain absent but a short time, but in his travels he met a young man by the name of Doughty who had just dragged a deer to camp, the camp being on the old Richardson farm near the foot of Furlong mountain. So young Morgan joined Doughty to look for Doughty's brother, who was following a deer. He followed the deer to the top of Furlong mountain and leaving the deer trail there, started off across the woods, going over Long mountain and coming out to Morrill's mill in Bethel about two o'clock in the afternoon. Young Morgan and Doughty followed his trail until they came out to a camp and were told that the other Doughty was safe, so they stayed at the camp, which they reached about 6 o'clock in the evening, some nine miles from home.

About five o'clock Saturday morning, everyone in the neighborhood was aroused and there was much excitement. "Willie Morgan had not returned home. He was lost in the woods." The search party of eleven men started to hunt him up.

They found his trail where he was last seen but when they found he was in company with someone they were not quite so worried, but they followed the trail through as he and Doughty went and when they reached Morrill's mill they were told he was all right and on his way home.

They sought the first telephone they could find and telephoned home to let young Morgan's parents know he was safe as they were nearly distracted over his absence.

The men started for home by the road. After traveling about seventeen miles in all they were nearly exhausted. C. E. Swan took a four horse team and went to meet them, which he did, at the Sumner Hutchinson farm in Albany.
